Armed Forces Day In Nation Being Marked

President And Defense Secretary Lead Observance

By DARRELL GARWOOD

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Truman and Defense Secretary Johnson lead the nation today in heralding observance at home and abroad tomorrow of the first U. S. Armed Forces Day.

Mr. Truman and the defense secretary will speak tonight before a Washington dinner given by sponsors of the former army, navy and air force days, which the new, unified celebration displaces.

Tomorrow, 250 government and military leaders will speak as communities throughout the country stage parades and military demonstrations not equalled in the aggregate since World War II.

Demonstrations Planned

As part of the celebration, B-26 bombers will skim over all state capitals and many other cities, and 340 warships in Atlantic and Pacific ports will be opened to civilian inspection.

Armed Forces Day, scheduled last fall as part of the military unification program, will also be observed in all U. S. occupation areas and other localities where American forces are stationed abroad.

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, and Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, chiefs of the air force and army, respectively, are among those speaking at advance celebrations today.

Bradley is to address the commercial clubs of San Francisco, while Vandenberg and Collins will speak before Armed Forces Day luncheons in Detroit and Cleveland, respectively.

Two Leap To Safety From Jet Plane

WEST CHESTER, Pa., May 19.—(INS)—A driving rainstorm was blamed today for the crash of a jet fighter plane from which two air force officers leaped 14,000 feet to safety.

Maj. Richard Burnor, 31, of Washington, the pilot, was unhurt in the jump. Lt. C. H. Creschene, of Turner Field, Ga., suffered a cut jaw.

Burnor told state police he lost his bearings in the rain storm and his fuel supply ran low. The pair jumped eight minutes before the plane crashed in an apple orchard near West Chester.

Dr. Will W. Orr, president of Westminster college, who has completed his first year as head of the United Presbyterian institution at New Wilmington, made 230 public addresses and travelled 26,000 miles in behalf of the college in his first year's service, it is revealed.

With the completion of the placing of detour signs for Route 422 over the New Castle-Ellwood road by state highway workmen, all through traffic has been diverted from the New Castle-Butler road. The detour has proved effective as no complaints have been received by A. A. Martin, county highway superintendent, he reports.

In connection with the annual commencement proceedings at Westminster this graduation period, arrangements are being made for a reunion of members of the class that was graduated from the school in 1890, sixty years ago. Several members are anticipating being in attendance. Other reunions are being planned, one of class members who were graduated 50 years ago, and of the other classes which were graduated at five-year intervals since.

Truman's Reorganization Plan Is Facing Trouble

By FRANK B. ALLEN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Truman's reorganization plans face further troubles today despite the chief executive's rebuke to senators he said preach economy but do not support it.

After the fair employment practices gag rule issue is settled, the Senate turns its attention to Mr. Truman's plans for revamping the Federal Trade and Federal Power Commissions.

At the same time, two key Democrats indicated that the president's assertion that the plans would save money and not constitute a power grab will not sway their determination to kill the proposals.

Senate Commerce Chairman Edwin C. Johnson—whose committee handles FTC and FPC affairs—declared:

"I haven't voted against any plan yet that would have saved one thin dime."

Would Convert Them
The Colorado Democrat, who sponsored resolutions to upset four of Mr. Truman's 25 plans, declared that the commissions are arms of Congress and that President Truman seeks to convert them to executive agencies.

Executive expenditures Chairman McClellan (D) Ark., whose committee studied the revamping plans, insisted that at least four of the plans "absolutely admit a grab of power." McClellan added:

"I am not saying Mr. Truman would grab power. But these plans are there for ever and we must look beyond the present administration."

The president's troubles on organization plans are so acute in the Senate that Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., voted against one and ardent administration Sen. Humphrey (D) Minn., voted against another.

Man Dies In Gas Chamber
RALEIGH, N. C., May 19.—(INS)—Jack Bridges, strapping 22-year-old Georgia farm boy, died in the North Carolina gas chamber at 10:12 a. m. today.

Johnstown Transit Strike Month Old

JOHNSTOWN, May 19.—(INS)—The Johnstown transportation strike was a month old today with no signs of a settlement near.

Some 300 members of the AFL Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach employees struck against the Johnstown Transportation Company last April 19.

The dispute over wage demands remains deadlocked at only five cents difference between the union and management.

The bus drivers and trolley motormen seek $1.40 an hour, and the company has offered $1.35. The present scale is $1.30 per hour. New talks are expected to begin after the arrival of a Philadelphia lawyer, H. Herbert Symes, to represent the union.

Western Germany May Be Accepted As Cold War Ally

By JOHN A. REICHMANN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—President Truman's warm support of the plan to merge French and German steel and coal industries was seen today as a powerful step toward the acceptance of western Germany as a cold war ally.

Diplomatic sources expressed the belief that the chief executive's unsolicited endorsement is an outcome of conferences held by Secretary of State Acheson with the British and French foreign ministers. It had been reported earlier that Britain was temporarily dubious to the plan.

Before his departure for Paris and London, Acheson declined to express any opinion on the proposal, set forth by French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman. Consequently the president's statement is interpreted as springing from Acheson's London talks, where both Schuman and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin were present.

Seek To Force Completion Of Austrian Treaty

Western Powers To Replace Allied Military Government

By JAMES E. BROWN

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 19.—The western powers challenged Russia to move for completion of an Austrian peace treaty today by announcing plans for appointment of a civilian high commissioner to replace the existing allied military government.

The United States, Great Britain and France, in a communique issued in London, said that the changeover will take place "at an early date."

It means that the allies will duplicate in Austria the switch made some time ago in western Germany, when Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor, was replaced by John J. McCloy, who now functions as American high commissioner.

The move was decided upon after re-examination by the Big Three Council of Foreign Ministers of Austrian peace treaty negotiations, long stalled by Russia's insistence upon settlement of a Russo-Austrian debt problem.

There have been four years of futile bargaining on this issue, while Austria maintains that her home economy cannot be salvaged until the burden of military occupation costs is lifted.

The communique reaffirmed the western policy, which said "requires at the earliest possible date the completion of an Austrian treaty which will lead to the restoration of a free and independent Austria... and to the withdrawal of the forces of occupation."

The barn and its contents, including $3,000 worth of lumber Miller planned to use for his new home, were destroyed. The equipment included a pickup truck, two tractors, a mowing machine and a cultivator.

Southern Senators To Beat Move For 'Cloture' Action

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(INS)—The Senate failed by a decisive margin today to give southern senators who are filibustering against the Administration's Fair Employment Practices bill.

By CHARLES B. SEIB

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Southern senators seemed assured of victory today in the long-awaited showdown vote on a fair employment practices bill.

The vote, scheduled for 1 p. m. EST, is to decide whether the Dixie forces are to be silenced by "cloture," the only device by which the senate can forcibly end a debate. They must be quieted before action on civil rights legislation can proceed.

Although the cloture move has the strong support of President Truman and the Republican leadership, a late tally by senatorial leaders shows that it will fall about a dozen votes short of the 64 needed.

Some To Be Absent
Only about 20 of the 54 senate Democrats and 31 or 32 of the 42 Republicans are expected to sup-

Seek To Avert New Rail Tieup

Mediation Board Head Plans Action

By PHILLIPS J. PECK

(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Board Chairman Francis A. O'Neill took up the new rail dispute less than 24 hours after returning from Chicago where he directed successful mediation of the six-day fireman's strike.

A board spokesman declined to forecast what steps the agency will take in the switchmen's case, but he indicated that action will be forthcoming quickly.

The switchmen are scheduled to strike at 6 a. m. local time Tuesday against 10 midwestern and western railroads. The walkout may not halt the carriers' operations but it is expected to retard service, especially in terminals.

Arthur J. Glover, president of the AFL Switchmen's Union of North America, said the union decided on strike action to enforce demands for 48 hours' pay for a 40-hour work week.

Report Motor Ship In Distress In Pacific
SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—The U. S. coast guard at San Francisco said early today that the motor ship Naia was in distress 500 miles northeast of Hawaii and that at least two other vessels were proceeding to her assistance.

The Naia flashed an SOS late last night, stating her position but not the nature of the ship's trouble.

Two other vessels radioed they were hurrying toward the Naia. One of these, the army transport General Brewster, reported she was within four hours sailing distance of the position given in the Naia's distress call.

MacKay radio said the Naia, reportedly a fishing vessel, had been sending out a series of SOS signals for nearly five hours, without describing the craft's difficulties.

Conviction Of Axis Sally For Treason Upheld

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(INS)—The U. S. Court of Appeals today affirmed the treason conviction of Mildred E. (Axis Sally) Gillars, who is serving a prison term of 10 to 30 years.

Miss Gillars was found guilty on March 25, 1949, of betraying her country in time of war by broadcasting Nazi propaganda over the Berlin radio.

Her broadcasts, in which she was identified as "Axis Sally," were beamed at American combat troops and the government charged that she sought to weaken the morale of fighting GIs in an attempt to bring about collapse of the allied offensive.

In addition to the prison term, Miss Gillars was fined $10,000.

The Maine-born woman, a former actress, was living in Germany at the outbreak of World War II. She became a star attraction on the Nazi radio, but testified at her trial that she was compelled to serve as a propagandist under threats of death or torture.

Judge Charles Fahy wrote the appellate court decision upholding the conviction. The ruling was unanimous.

Driver Is Held In Fatal Crash
Enters Guilty Plea To Hit-Run Charge

Gerald F. Holman, of 191 Spring street, Masury, O., driver of the tractor-trailer truck which was involved in the collision with a small truck driven by Edison Corryea, Jr., of R. D. 1, New Wilmington, resulting in Corryea's death, is held here, charged with failure to stop and render assistance at the scene of an accident and failure to disclose identity.

Holman was taken before Justice of the Peace Everett C. Anderson, of Neshannock township, Thursday evening, when he entered a plea of guilty to the charge, and also to the charge of overloading his truck. State police found his load was 6,000 pounds in excess of the legal limit. He was fined $50 and costs on the over-weight charge. Bail was fixed at $2,500 on the charge of failing to stop and render assistance, which Holman was unable to raise last night, and he was committed to jail.

It is understood that arrangements are being made to procure bail which will likely be furnished this afternoon. Coroner Charles E. Allen stated that he also plans to have Holman put up bail for his appearance at a coroner's inquest to be held next week.

According to Sheriff Frank L. Coen, Holman is in a very nervous condition.

Acheson Sails For Home With New Requests

Western European Allies Want New Guarantee Of Aid

By KINGSBURY SMITH

European General Manager, L. N. S.

LONDON, May 19.—Secretary of State Dean Acheson sails for home today from the Atlantic pact conference with a request from European allies for a stronger American commitment to go to war if Russia attacks western Europe.

He also will carry back with him aboard the liner Britannic a big blank check for the American taxpayer to fill in as Uncle Sam's share of the cost of building up a powerful Atlantic security force to protect the western world.

Create Defense Force

In return he has the promise of the foreign ministers of 11 North Atlantic treaty nations to cooperate in creating a balanced, collective defense force. It is hoped that this will become strong enough in two or three years to withstand any Russian threat.

He also carried assurances that the European allies will accept a prominent American civilian personality as supreme coordinator of the Atlantic pact defense organization.

Other foreign ministers departing for home will tell their respective governments of Acheson's warning that far greater sacrifices and effort are required to help develop a collective force strong enough to discourage Russia from risking war with the west.

Pleasure is just where you find it, and just what a chap likes to do, reading or riding or flying up there in the cloud speckled blue. Swimming or boating or hunting or fishing if you like the sport, or sitting around with a cool lemonade and offering guests a small snort. But me I like tramping in forests, and hunting the wild flowers home, admiring the trees, as they sprout out their leaves, there's the place, that a fellow can roam. There's music to hear in the forest and beauty and peace that is free, that's fun if you like it as I do, the weather is sixty-three.

two sons, Michael and Patrick, live in nearby Long Beach and plan to be at the air base.

It will be the navy man's first sight of Patrick, 19 months old, who was born about the time his father and Bender were marched off to prison as spies. Smith did not know he had a second son until a few days before his release May 9.

Unable To Come
Bender's wife and daughter live in Chicago and could not come to the west coast because the child has measles. So they will meet after he has been flown to the Glenview (Ill.) Naval Air Station near Chicago.

The liberated servicemen said the Reds did not mistreat or starve them but did keep them "sitting and looking at each other in a little mud house" with an armed guard at the door month after month.

They said the Communists "gave us the impression the United States had reason to believe we were dead."

The two men avoided a direct answer on Red radio claims that they were released after signing a "confession" they were spies. They said:

"It needs a complete explanation before more misunderstanding builds up."

ACHESON SAILS FOR HOME WITH NEW REQUESTS

learned that the European allies' request for a stronger American commitment to enter into war quickly if they are attacked was made in the course of secret council sessions.

It was made in connection with Acheson's appeal to the Atlantic pact members to abandon their traditional but costly policy of trying to maintain individually adequate forces in all three branches of the armed services.

He urged them instead to concentrate on developing specialized component parts which could contribute to balanced collective forces.

Under this plan, each nation will rely on other allies for what they do not possess.

Plan Envisaged
The plan envisages France and other continental nations concentrating chiefly on the development of land forces, with Britain and the United States contributing air and navy units.

The western European foreign ministers agreed in principle to this revolutionary concept of an international defense force. However, several of them, including the French and Belgians, requested stronger assurances of immediate American entry into war if one of them were attacked. They did not want merely a promise of liberation after occupation.

SOUTHERN SENATORS TO BEAT MOVE FOR 'CLOTURE' ACTION

The defeat will face Majority Leader Lucas (D) Ill., with the choice of either pushing aside the test civil rights issue—a bill against job discrimination based on race, religion or color—or attempting to force the southerners to talk themselves to the point of exhaustion.

He can be expected to take the first course—at least temporarily. He has served notice on the southerners, however, that he plans to try for cloture again—several times if necessary—in the hope that eventually 64 "yea" votes can be mustered.

Some Optimism On Lie's Visit

A note of cautious optimism was detected in the Moscow statement of United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie and it is apparent at least that his peace mission to Europe has not been a failure.

The chief executive of the international organization was all smiles when he recalled his statements in New York, Paris and London, that his peace mission to end or abate the cold war was merely a case of doing his duty as he saw it.

He insisted that top level discussions with government leaders must be kept highly confidential.

And he indicated there was a good deal of formality in some respects and complete friendliness in others.

Not Dissatisfied

Most important, Lie said he had "no reason to be dissatisfied" with his talks in Moscow with Premier Marshal Stalin. Deputy Premier V. M. Molotov, Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky and others.

And then he made it clear that no bridges have been burned by disclosing he will have new conferences with government leaders in Paris and London and plans to see both President Truman and Secretary of State Acheson when he returns to Washington.

It may be too much to hope that Lie has found any common ground on which the East-West breach can be healed and the cold war brought to a definite end.

But Lie is nothing if not a realist. He went so far as to say that his discussions with Stalin may produce some results in two or three months and added that "time will tell" whether his mission was able to achieve anything.

Amenable To Discussion

It was significant that Stalin was amenable to discussion of the whole wide range of the East-West warfare. The conversations embraced every subject from atomic control to Communist China's present exclusion from the United Nations.

Satisfying in some measure, Lie's statement had to be a tantalizing one.

The Parent Problem

WHY YOUTHS DROP OUT OF SCHOOL

Out of 1,700,000 youths who began in high school last fall only about half will remain to graduate. So estimated the National Child Labor Board on the basis of a sampling study.

It was found that not many quit for financial reasons, nor was the proportion from broken homes noticeably high. The parents of children who dropped out of high school seemed to be typical of the average American wage-earner.

The study did show that those who left high school early had often been repeaters in one or more of the elementary grades. They had poor grades and were truant more often than the average child. A third of them said they preferred work to school. Another third had failed while in high school and did not choose to repeat a grade there. Others said they disliked their teachers or certain subjects or that they could "learn more out of school than in school."

Of course, these "drop-outs" increase heavily the unemployment figures. However one wonders whether as jobs grow harder to get, the withdrawals of youths from high school will remain as high.

Questions Raised

The foregoing facts raise questions about what the school and home might do to keep more of these youths in school. Most high schools are still geared chiefly to train youths for college. However, many leaders in education are aware of the need of providing better means in high school for the kind of courses at which more students, who lag at books, can enjoy greater learning achievement and still maintain their self-regard. Addition of more vocational courses has had some success in this direction.

The possibilities for revising some of the regular book courses, such as in the sciences, in mathematics, history, geography and related subjects, are very great. Some clever teachers can so develop courses in numerous high school subjects that the youth, who has found most book learning difficult, can achieve in a way that seems to him worthy of his effort.

Of course, there arises the problem of standards and certification. When a youth graduates from high school his diploma should have a clear meaning to him and the public. At present there are in some high schools virtually two types of diplomas: one roughly academic and the other vocational. Perhaps there will be by and by several grades of high school diplomas, each carrying on it a definition of what has been achieved by its bearer.

Very Poor Readers

Many of the laggards in high school, who also were laggards in the grades, are very poor readers causing all their subjects to be rather hard. Some high schools have salvaged many of these through special courses designed to help such students read better.

All along the line from the first grade upward, we parents and teachers should do our utmost to help children gain in reading skill. My bulletins, "Home Helps for Poor Readers" and "Tips for Students," may be had in a stamped envelope sent me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, N. Y.

Then, too, we can improve our ways of winning the child and youth to cooperate and chose to plod on at school. This matter is related to practically everything we consider in this column—all the parent-child and teacher-child relationships. Mere efforts at persuasion are fruitful in proportion as the youth feels right toward those who try to persuade him.

talizing one. To reveal publicly the considered opinions or ultimate intentions of any world leader might be embarrassing. Certainly the delicate and sometimes dangerous issues upon which he is engaged could be aggravated rather than improved by premature disclosures.

Observers recalled that when he left New York and when he talked for publication in London, Paris, Geneva and the Hague, Lie merely could express hope that he even could see Stalin.

His trip to Moscow was characterized at the time as an "if-yes" one. Lie said he would like to see Stalin if the Soviet dictator happened to be in Moscow and an appointment could be arranged.

Easily Arranged

But it apparently was arranged with consummate ease. Lie was not kept waiting outside the Kremlin at all, and when the time came for him to see the Marshal, it was no perfunctory call but a full-fledged conference of an hour and a half.

United States, British and French government leaders will be better posted to talk with Lie again in the next few days than they were at the initial meetings.

The Big Three conference of foreign ministers in London has been concluded successfully and the talks among member nations of the North Atlantic defense treaty organization are proceeding.

There obviously have been some differences of opinion at the latter session, particularly about how much each European nation can afford to spend in its own defense.

But a satisfactory compromise plan doubtless will be worked out. And western European government leaders had every possible opportunity to lay bare their difficulties, consult on every conceivable subject of individual and mutual interest and give Soviet Russia and her satellites proof that there now is real western unity.

Secretary Lie's prediction that it will be two or three months before his mission begins to show tangible results is proof in any case that he planted the seeds of peace.

An intellectual drought or an emotional cloudburst in any one of a dozen quarters could easily nullify all his efforts. But he apparently found no reason on his long and painstaking tour to abandon hope for the future of civilization and the world.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

FOLLY

With all the wisdom taught in schools There shouldn't be so many fools. So many stupid, blundering men Who want to go to war again.

By now 'tis strange we haven't learned That peace from war is never earned; That never long are cannons still Since war breeds war and always will.

We must be fools to think that we Must battle when we agree And give to fearful weapons new The problems sense would better do.

Oh, sorry men so much to know And yet to learn one truth so slow: That reason, if they dared to try, Would save the boys war calls to die!

Folks Of Fame

Vincent Auriol, French statesman, was born in Revel, Haute Garonne, France, Aug. 27, 1884. He was a member of the Chamber of Deputies in 1914, mayor of Muret in 1925, general councillor for Haute Garonne district in 1926. He was Secretary general of the Socialist group in the chamber 1919-39. The Vichy government imprisoned him in 1940, but he continued active in the underground movement, and finally was able to join Gen. Charles de Gaulle in London. After France's liberation by the Allies, he served as minister of state and vice president of council in de Gaulle's government. In 1947 he was elected president of the French republic, a post he still holds.

Of course, there's nothing new under the sun. 'Tis under the moon where the young fellow thinks he's found something new. —Hays, Kan., Daily News.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Happy is the day when a soldier gets his pay as we go rolling, rolling home. Seems like only yesterday that the tune to the above filled the air over England and the voices of American men cheered and from the beachhead of Omaha and Red Beach walked, ran and rode tanks across France . . . swam, in some cases, into Germany . . . and the song of Lilli Marlene rolled from the lips of both men and women . . . and it was only yesterday that the Red Cross established clubs in foreign lands . . . for it was like a letter from home to drink a "Coke" and dunk a donut . . . we have been talking about the ETO . . . but don't ever let the stories of "Over There" make you forget the Pacific Area . . . It was rugged all over.

To many this ruggedness seems like a dream . . . a bad dream . . . but the human mind forgets so easily . . . and as we celebrate Armed Forces Week some people question it all . . . Tonight there will be a parade . . . and tomorrow there will be other activities . . . for all over the United States Saturday is known as Armed Forces Day . . . but you say what is this Day?

In former years, the Army, the Navy, the Air Force, and the Marine Corps have had separate "Days". But now that the Services are unified under the Department of Defense, it is only fitting that they unite in their report to the Nation on this first Armed Forces Day . . . the purpose of Armed Forces Day is to familiarize Americans with the state of the national defense and with the organization of the Armed Forces . . . for it is only through public understanding and support that the Services can carry out their duties of safeguarding our freedom and the peace of the world.

Let's all resolve . . . on this Armed Forces Day . . . to know our Armed Forces better . . . and to honor the men and women who wear the uniform of our country for the important work they do in keeping America strong . . . on land, on the seas, and in the air.

CHANGING RECORDS

Washington Calling

(By Marquis Childs)

Publishing Costs High

DENVER, Colo., May 18.—Many newspapers are having a difficult time in these days of creeping inflation. As business enterprises they are caught in a squeeze of fixed costs between the bureaucracy of the trade unions and the virtually monopolistic power of the paper industry that holds the price of paper at $100 a ton.

Critics of the press sometimes forget that under our system a newspaper must first succeed as a business enterprise if it is to survive. That is a prerequisite not merely to survival but to independence.

But on the other hand there are those in our business who seem to feel that commercial success is enough; that it is the end-all and be-all of the newspaper. They are just as wrong, in my opinion, as the idealists who choose to ignore the essential base.

A newspaper that is merely a catalogue of advertisements is not a newspaper at all. If it is to live up to the function conceived for it by Thomas Jefferson and the founding fathers, then it must reflect not merely the flow of the news but the competition of ideas in a free society.

To do less—to give out merely the private prejudices of one small group or even one individual—is to fail. And failure can contribute more than most casual newspaper readers realize to the decline of the democratic system.

Thoughts Occasioned These thoughts are occasioned by an important event just held here. With senators, cabinet members, governors and assorted grandees present, the Denver Post dedicated a handsome new building.

One Man's Opinion

By Walter Kiernan (By International News Service)

The Senate's gambling investigation is slow getting started but with $150,000 to spend it shouldn't take long to find a bookie or a floating crap game.

Or I can turn over my surveys which indicate that the bookies are giving their customers a better break than Congress does.

Now the House committee is planning a 10 per cent snatch on a $2 dividend and you don't even get a horse to play.

And if it's a 50 cent dividend they'll take the nickel and you can argue about it . . . it's your nickel.

For a government that claims to be the friend of the people it's into more people deeper than any other friends they've got.

And while they're investigating gambling . . . that's no sure thing we're playing overseas with the pot getting bigger and bigger.

with new presses and new equipment.

In the clear Colorado sun on the speaker's stand in front of the new building we listened to speeches in tribute to a free press and to Palmer Hoyt—publisher of the Post. Several speakers sounded the familiar theme—it is not just the physical entity, the marble, the steel and the stone; a newspaper is more than that . . .

That is so true it cannot be repeated often enough. And it is also a truth that is frequently overlooked except on these ceremonial occasions.

The Denver Post is an interesting example of a newspaper with character and vigor. In the old days of the wild and woolly West, the Post was wilder and woollier than any of them. Its flaming headlines and its blazing sensations were part of the tradition of the West of that other day.

Policy Changes

Now in another age Hoyt is seeking to keep the vigor while shaping the policy of the Post in line with the swift currents of change sweeping across the world. The West is an integral part of America, and America is inextricably and forever bound up with the rest of the world. This is reflected in both the news and editorial policy of the Post.

To get back to the hard facts of the business office, the new building, with presses, cost something more than $600,000. Since the Post is a prosperous paper, this was paid for out of revenue.

That figure is a measure of certain realities behind the phrase, "freedom of the press." It is a far cry from the days of Tom Paine and the pamphleteers when a man with a hand press could have his say in more or less equal competition with the rich and well-born Tories who opposed the dangerous radicalism of America's revolutionaries. A man standing in the village square could, with the sound of his voice, reach most of the influential men of his community.

Cost Fabulous Sums

The technology of modern communication costs fabulous sums. I have heard the cost of Marshall Field's newspaper ventures in New York and Chicago estimated as high as $30,000,000. The newest medium, television, absorbs capital as the desert sands drink up water, and a practical, working basis to support this prodigious new child is not yet in sight.

In my opinion these harsh realities put an even greater responsibility on those who own and direct America's newspapers. The very fact that competition is possible only at a cost almost prohibitive makes it more urgent that there be no monopoly of viewpoint or prejudice. The press has privileges that rest on the noble concept of freedom of inquiry and freedom of ideas. The mere huckster may claim those privileges for a time. But ignoring the duties and responsibilities that go with privilege, the huckster will in the end lose all.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

An irate mother marched up to the credit department of a big store a few days after Christmas and complained: "This water gun you sold me is no good. Maybe it was broken in transit." She pointed the gun at the credit manager, pulled the trigger, and promptly caught him squarely in the eye with a stream of purple ink. "That's funny," she mused. "It didn't work yesterday."

A young doctor had just hung up his shingle on the lower East side of Manhattan when a patient appeared suffering from a very bad cold. "Cad you cure this code?" he sniffed anxiously. The young doctor thought hard and said, "Go home, take a hot bath, and then stand naked in a draught without drying yourself." "That will cure my code?" said the patient doubtfully. "I didn't say that," answered the doctor. "But that will give you pneumonia, and pneumonia I know how to cure."

And lo, the angel of the Lord came upon them, and the glory of the Lord shone round about them; and they were sore afraid.—St. Luke 2:9.

The Acheson Plan

(By HOLMES ALEXANDER)

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 19.—Not even Senator McCarthy, let's presume, will be wishing Secretary of State Acheson anything but good luck on the forces he has set in motion during the Atlantic Pact meetings in London. Amid all the fireworks over the China policy, it is easy to forget that most Democrats and most Republicans believe the State Department has done well in Europe. The Truman Doctrine for Greece and Turkey has been a proved success. The Marshall Plan has accomplished economic wonders and must be credited with keeping both Italy and France from the Communist clutch. The only big question mark in our European policy is the Atlantic Pact, and the time of its proving is now at hand.

Acheson's Own Brain Child

The Atlantic Pact, of course, is Acheson's own brain child. It might be conveniently called the Acheson plan. President Truman first mentioned the idea of a "collective defense arrangement" in his inauguration day address, January 20, 1949, which was also the day that Acheson officially succeeded General Marshall. Acheson had full charge of its progress through the Senate and of the dickerings with the foreign ministers of member nations. Whatever success the Pact achieves should go to Acheson's credit, and its failings have to be laid at his door.

It can be argued with perfect justice that Acheson's measurement as a Secretary of State ought to be taken on the Pact, rather than on the China problem which he inherited, the Alger Hiss defense which he foolishly embraced or the McCarthy furor in which he was engulfed. And none of these past unpleasantnesses ought to be prejudice the good record he has made in London.

Good On At Least Three Counts

It is good on at least three counts. As spokesman for the U. S., Acheson has started a move to restore Germany to the western family of nations. Events may prove that he did so in the very nick of time, for it's been plain for more than two years that Germany is incapable of a neutral position. Either she turns west for a restoration of her sovereignty, or she most certainly will turn east. By using the prestige of American leadership, Acheson has given weight to the French proposal of a cartel of heavy industry in the heart of Europe. This, if anything really comes of it, could be a monumental accomplishment. Where Napoleon and Hitler both failed by conquest to make a marriage of the German and French economies, there is now a shining chance that peaceful diplomacy will succeed in diplomacy under the leadership of Acheson. By assigning funds already set aside by Congress, Acheson has moved the U. S. into the struggle for Asia. He has done so, it is true, by support of European colonialism—a method not likely to make for lasting friendships in non-Communist Asia. But the situation in Indo-China called for boldness, and Acheson made a bold decision.

May Regain Reputation

All in all, it is possible to hope that Acheson is now beginning to deserve the reputation which he brought with him into office. There is no use expecting that he will ever be popular, either with the public or with Congress. But who cares about that? William Jennings Bryan and Henry Clay were so "popular" that each was his party's choice for three presidential elections. But Bryan was a laughing stock as Wilson's secretary of state, and Clay turned J. Q. Adams' administration into a riot. On the other hand, such men as John Hay, Elihu Root and Henry Stimson flattered no pulses during their tenures of office, but rank at the top among our secretaries of state.

The point is that the Atlantic Pact—the Acheson Plan—is the secretary's own instrument, presumably the sort he can use with the greatest skill. It may be that he has started something a lot better for our side than the Marshall Plan or the Truman Doctrine. These, after all, were giveaway programs, but the Acheson plan appears to be a little different. For the first time in five years the Europeans have made some real concessions in return for our aid. Give Acheson credit for that.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

One of the most astonishing phenomena of our American way of life is that many well-to-do, well-educated, well-informed people are Communists.

Communism has become a national bugaboo, on hear of men and women with good incomes, with responsible positions as college and high school teachers, with homes of their own and money in the bank, accused of being Communists.

How can they be Communists—unless they completely misunderstand the meaning and the purpose of Communism?

How can anybody be a beggar or a slave be a Communist?

How many of you have ever read Karl Marx? How many are familiar with the Communist Manifesto?

Instead of banning these publications and hiding them from our students, they should be made "must" reading.

Instead of sticking our educational heads into the ground like ostriches, we should throw the floodlight of truth on Communism and expose its real nature.

Communism's creed is completely unsuited for American use. No true American can possibly be a Communist.

To practice Communism is to deny the American way of life and to surrender everything we hold dear and valid to the perverted ideology of despair, hatred and dissension.

Let me quote you a couple of paragraphs from the Communist Manifesto, which is the Alpha and Omega, the primer and the Bible of Communism.

Then ask yourself whether you would want to live according to the rules laid down for communists—rules which are the very foundation of Communism:

"The bourgeois claptrap about the family and education, about the hallowed correlation of parent and child, become all the more disgusting, the more, by the action of modern industry, all family ties among the proletarians are torn asunder and their children transformed into simple articles of commerce and instruments of labor."

What ridiculous "claptrap" THAT is!

No country has done more than the United States to do away with child labor, to strengthen the family ties, to protect and look after our children. While in the paradise of Communism, Russia, millions of children are being exploited and reared into state slaves.

"Has not Christianity declaimed against private property, against marriage, against the State? Has it not preached, in the place of these, charity and poverty, celibacy and mortification of the flesh, monastic life and Mother Church? Christian Socialism is but the Holy water with which the priest consecrates the heart-burnings of the aristocrat."

Have you any religion in your heart, any faith, any charity? You cannot have those and be a Communist.

I could go on and on if I had the space. Read Karl Marx yourself. Read the teachings of Communism. But be sure you have a strong stomach. Communism is a strong emetic!

WASHINGTON—President Truman . . . "At a time when democracy is meeting the greatest challenge in its history, we need to turn to the sources of our own democratic faith for new inspiration and strength."

MOSCOW—United Nations Secretary General Trygve Lie, commenting on his talks with world government leaders . . . "Peace is what they want and peace is what they are talking about."

WASHINGTON—Former President Herbert Hoover . . . "The normal boy in cities is a primitive animal and takes to competition and battle."

ALBANY, N. Y.—Dr. Otto Loewi, Nobel prize winner and research professor of pharmacology at New York university . . . The second important function of the senior class will be the class night program which will be conducted Tuesday evening, May 23, in the high school.

Describe Prague As Arsenal Of Moscow

FRANKFURT, May 19—(INS)—Six out of 50 employees of the U. S. Embassy in Prague, withdrawn at Czechoslovakia's insistence, arrived in Frankfurt Thursday and described Prague as "the arsenal of Moscow."

Thomas John Crockett, officer of the United States Information Service, said:

"Our poster followed a vitriolic anti-American press campaign.

"Fifty per cent of Prague newspaper space is devoted to fantastic stories hitting everything American, including soft drinks, jazz, big business and racial problems in the south.

"The Soviets are making the country psychologically and materially the arsenal of Moscow," Crockett said that Czechoslovak schools now are completely Communized.

DO IT YOURSELF

Nowadays it seems that many people want to be subsidized, whatever that is.

They want help. If they are young they want Uncle Sam to educate them and set them up in business.

If they are old they want a pension. That is not the way this wonderful country was founded and built.

Our pioneers did things for themselves. They wanted to do things in their own way. They did not want to be bossed by bureaucrats.

That spirit still lives. The cancer society, the tuberculosis society, the heart society, the polio society and many others want to do things for themselves. They do not yell for the government to boss them around.

They get things done too. If Buster gets polio he is in a respirator in the hospital before the cat can wink her eye.

They are going to do away with tuberculosis too if the government lets them alone.

Palmer Appeal Will Be Heard

June Date Set For The Hearing

Kenneth Palmer's appeal that the indictment against him in Lawrence county is illegal will be given a hearing on the first Monday of June.

Judge W. Walter Braham has set the date to listen to reasons why the indictment should not be quashed. Palmer will probably have to be represented by counsel appointed by the court as he is in Alcatraz serving a term for the robbery of the Volant bank.

The granting of the hearing is an example of American justice. The indictment was drawn against Palmer for a murderous assault upon Police Chief Ernest Hartman back in 1941, following the bank robbery. Only Hartman's lionine courage saved his life. As it was he shot one of Palmer's pals.

Palmer was given a long term by the federal courts for the robbery of the Volant bank and Lawrence county indicted him on the assault charge to stay the statute of limitations.

Palmer claims to have found a legal loophole which would void the Lawrence county indictment. He claims once Pennsylvania released him to the federal authorities the state's claim against him was voided. This is the issue Judge Braham will hear.

DIVORCE REFUSED

The divorce petition of Orville Awen against his wife, Margaret Awen, has been refused by Judge W. Walter Braham. Judge Braham found there was not sufficient grounds for a divorce and refused it. A divorce has been granted by Judge Braham to Alta R. Stark from her husband, Paul F. Stark.

Warns America To Get House In Order For Defense

HARRISBURG, May 19.—(INS) — One of the country's top air experts today warned America to get its house in order so that it can stand against an aggressor.

"We must remove from our government all vestiges of Communism and their fellow-travelers," said Gil Robb Wilson, New York Herald-Tribune aviation editor.

"We must turn our backs on socialism and re-assert ourselves as a republic," Wilson told members of Harrisburg's service clubs at an armed forces day celebration.

Wilson predicted defeat for the Russians in the cold war.

"The United States will meet them and defeat them all along the line," he said.

"But we must continue our development in scientific, defense and as long as we do we'll always have them challenged."

"And as long as we have them challenged," he said, "they'll never fight."

Latest Spring In Many Years

HARRISBURG, May 19.—Commercial vegetable growers of Pennsylvania have experienced the latest spring in many years, according to a Federal-State survey report of conditions announced by the state department of agriculture.

Weather continued cold into the latter part of April. Plowing and seedings were delayed by frequent rains.

Rhubarb and asparagus from Pennsylvania farms are moving in quantities, asparagus being three weeks late. Frost in early April cut back early beets and seedlings made poor progress. Many early broccoli plants were frosted and damaged by cold winds during April and many replantings were made. Setting of cabbage plants were delayed considerably. Early lettuce showed slow growth up to the first of May.

Strawberries made little progress due to the cool and wet weather of late April. In Erie county berry beds are reported to have come through the winter in good condition.

Spring plantings of spinach were greatly delayed and yields of wintered-over spinach in the south-east are expected to be very low due to spotty stands caused by freezing and thawing and late frost.

Scores Extravagance Of Defense Program

CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., May 19.—(INS)—State Sen. Lloyd H. Wood on Thursday scored the administration of the Marshall plan and what he termed "extravagance" in the national defense program.

"We spent 33 million dollars in Europe to have people not be Communists," he said at the Conshohocken centennial celebration, "when we should have sent experts to provide the things really needed."

The Republican candidate for the lieutenant governorship declared "we should defend ourselves within reason, but not in the extravagant style which will destroy our national economy."

Gov. James H. Duff had been scheduled to speak, but was forced to cancel his visit because of poor flying condition. Wood was nominated on the Duff ticket as GOP candidate for lieutenant governor.

Passion Play Is Resumed

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany May 19.—(INS)—The passion of Christ was re-enacted Thursday in the Bavarian village of Oberammergau for the first time in 16 years. Hingh-rank allied and German officials were in the audience of 5,000 as the curtain went up under a cloudy sky on the world's most famous religious spectacle—the passion play for which Oberammergau is famed.

In attendance at the special preview staged for officials of the western occupation forces were U. S. High Commissioner John J. McCloy, British High Commissioner Sir Brian Robertson, practically all the chiefs of the foreign missions in Germany and ten U. S. Generals.

West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and West German president Theodore Heuss also were present, as were high clergymen and numerous newsmen and photographers.

Police were sore beset in trying to check the flood of cars, buses and trains which rolled into the tiny village with people who wanted to watch the performance given by some 1,500 devout Catholic residents.

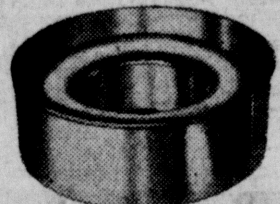

The presentation once more fulfilled the vow made in 1633 after the village was delivered from the black death. The last great survival of the middle-ages miracle plays, it has been performed each decade with only three interruptions in 316 years.

Housing Shortage In Pennsylvania Is Nearly Solved

HARRISBURG, May 19.—(INS)—The housing shortage in Pennsylvania is nearly solved, the Pennsylvania Realtors Association claimed today.

The growing list of newspaper advertisements of dwellings for rent and sale offer definite proof, according to the association.

"Two years ago the same newspaper sections carried ads of individuals who wanted to rent or buy a dwelling," said President Charles E. Horner, of Pittsburgh. "Now the direct opposite exists and the politicians still want to continue wartime rent controls," Horner said.

Reports To Police 'I've Killed My Wife'

PHILADELPHIA, May 19.—(INS)—Daniel Heller, 32, a machinist, surrendered at a Philadelphia police station Thursday with the comment:

"I just killed my wife."

Detectives found the body of Heller's wife, Martha, 28, on the floor of her second-floor bedroom. Her head had been crushed, and a blood-stained piece of pipe lay nearby.

Police said Heller apparently fixed breakfast for his two children—Robert, seven, and Wayne, four—after the slaying.

Police said Heller refused to explain his action, saying "the reason is my own business."

Neighbors said the Hellers had been regarded as a model couple. They had two boys, Robert, seven, and Wayne, four.

Other industrial issues to attract persistent buying were DuPont, up 5½ to 78½, and Vanadium up 1 to 29½.

American Telephone continued actively bought, moving up 3½ to a new high at 161½ following an initial transfer of 2,200 shares.

Southern Pacific was a strong spot in the rails, gaining nearly a point to 55½. Atchison was up 3½ at 114½, and Chesapeake and Ohio was up 1½ at 29.

Italian Mothers Club

Mrs. Alice Fusco opened the meeting of the Italian Mothers club Thursday evening in the green room of the Y. W. C. A. Mrs. Louis Gurini gave the worship service. Motion pictures were shown later and Mrs. Esther Aiken was in charge of the showing.

A committee, including Mrs. Ter-

Members of the Ladies auxiliary of the Hillsville-Bessemer Post No. 4965, Veterans of Foreign Wars had their regular meeting May 16 at the post home, with Miss Mary Gallo presiding.

After the business session, a Mother's Day event was held for mothers of the members, also honoring the Gold Star Mothers.

O. Henry Would Have Liked This Story

NORFOLK, Mass., May 19.—(INS)—O. Henry would have liked this story.

Walter F. Robinson, 40, won a luxurious weekend in New York City in a radio song-naming contest.

Robinson's winning title was, "Tell Me It's Only a Dream."

The title was doubly good because the trip includes a suite at one of New York's best hotels, choice seats for a Broadway hit show and a free excursion to the Diamond Horseshoe.

Many a lad has dreamed of such a weekend.

But Robinson is passing it up. He won't even accept a cash equivalent as a prize. Instead, two veterans from the Brockton area, to be selected from among patients at Cushing General hospital in Framingham, will go to New York as Robinson's guests.

Robinson definitely can't make it. He's serving two concurrent 8 to 10 year terms for larceny at Norfolk prison colony.

And a trip to New York is only a dream for at least another two years.

Around Hollywood

By FRANK NEILL
(International News Service Staff Correspondent)

HOLLYWOOD, May 19.—Four producers have mailed Ingrid Bergman scripts for new pictures, in the hope she will make a movie when she comes back to Hollywood this summer. . . . Gary Cooper used to be a newspaper cartoonist.

Liz Taylor's father is opening an art shop in the Bel-Air hotel, where Liz and Nick Hilton will live after their honeymoon. . . .

Movie people who know Mario Cabre, the Spanish bull fighter, who is "interested" in Ava Gardner, describe him as a "real tough guy, who is pretty good with his dukes." And Sinatra wanted to be a prize fighter a year ago. . . .

Most Glamorous?

Larry Stevens, who sang on Jack Benny's radio program for a couple of years, picks the ten most glamorous female singers: "Doris Day, Lena Horne, Sarah Vaughn, Dinah Shore, Margaret Whiting, Mindy Carson, Luceane Polk, Mae Williams, Ella Fitzgerald — and Margaret Truman."

Wants It Rough

Ward Bond, 225-pound movie menace, says no one likes it better than an actor when you treat him rough.

"Gives him a chance to react," said Bond, currently pushing James Cagney around in "Kiss Tomorrow Goodbye." In one scene he shoved Cagney across a room so hard Jimmy's shoulder went through the wall.

"An actor like Cagney won't let you play gentle in a scene that's supposed to be rough," Bond explained. "He knows that if the scene is to be realistic he's got to take a shoving around."

Bond is a veteran of 22 years in pictures and at least 100 screen fights. Among movie heroes he has cuffed around are Errol Flynn, John Wayne, Dana Andrews and Joe E. Brown.

A professional boxer makes the worst movie fighter, he said. Bond added: "A professional fighter never telegraphs his punches. But in a movie you have to. Otherwise the audience could never see the punch start. You've got to let go with roundhouse swings in the movies."

How To Sleep

Josephine Hull has at last solved her problem on how to get some sleep in Hollywood.

Ever since arriving in the film city for her stint opposite James Stewart in Universal-International's "Harvey," the veteran Broadway actress has had insomnia.

The sleeplessness was caused by the extreme quiet of her surroundings in comparatively quiet Hollywood. In New York, she has been used to a hotel room overlooking a busy corner. The sudden contrast, she said, kept her awake

Swiss Cheese Front In Congress Has Declared Armistice

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(INS)—An armistice was declared Thursday on the Swiss cheese front in Congress.

Reps. Smith (R) Wis., and McSweeney (D) Ohio, reached an agreement to make their scheduled battle over the merits of the cheeses produced in their respective states a "no-decision" affair.

As a result, House members today will have the benefit of consuming two 200-pound wheels of Swiss cheese—one from each state—without having to go on record as to which is the better.

Smith said the political considerations entered into his agreement that the affair should be non-controversial. He pointed out that Democrats in the House outnumbered Republicans and added:

"Partisan politics might result in the Democrats abandoning their responsibilities as gourmets and voting a straight party line for Mr. McSweeney's cheese."

Both congressmen agreed that it would not be to the betterment of the Swiss cheese industry as a whole to have a congressional decision on which state manufactures the choicer product.

The Ohio wheel of cheese was manufactured by John Schneider of Ragersville, O., and will be brought to Washington in a specially designed "cheesemobile."

The Wisconsin cheese will be flown from Madison to the capital. In addition the Ohio "cheesemobile" will bring a special star-shaped package of Buckeye Swiss cheese for President Truman.

Huge Contracts
For HighwaysTotal In State As Of
May 1 Is $64,427,816

HARRISBURG, May 19.—(INS)—Total contract construction on state highways as of May 1 was $64,427,816, according to Highways Secretary Ray F. Smock. . . . In April, more than four and a half million dollars in new contracts were awarded and nearly three and a quarter millions paid contractors for work completed under earlier contracts. . . . This brought the total for the first four months of the year to $11,467,381. . . . During this period the State Highway and Bridge Authority let nine contracts for $19,048,557 for improvements to highways. . . . The active number of contracts on the first of the month was 219. . . . pavement miles to be constructed by May 1 was 380.68. . . . Eighty-three lettings for the year to May 1 totaled 256.09 miles at a low bid total of $23,456,636. . . . During the month bids will be received for an additional 26 projects totaling 83.38 miles. . . .

Ten counties will celebrate their centennials or sesqui-centennials in 1950. . . . Observances of their 150th birthday anniversaries will be heralded in Adams, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Centre, Crawford, Erie, and Mercer counties. . . . Fulton and Montour counties passed the century mark while Cumberland county will celebrate its 200th anniversary. . . . Most of the counties were carved from larger counties after the population in these areas burgeoned in centers far from the original county seat. . . .

The monthly bulletin of the department of internal affairs urges mineral industries to re-value the state's sources in the light of present needs and new techniques. . . . "Nationwide interest in the possibility of natural gas discoveries over a large area of Pennsylvania merely serves to emphasize the importance of the re-survey," the bulletin said. . . . The fact that Pennsylvania got off to an early start in her mineral industries brought on some of the present penalties. . . . The department said that although our coal resources are still very great, are more nearly depleted and more expensive to mine than states further south. . . . The bulletin expressed fear that change in the center of population toward the central and southern states augurs danger. . . . "If Pennsylvania is to hold her place as the leading mineral-industries state, extensive research coupled with increased application of technical skill will have to make up for declining natural advantages," the bulletin predicts. . . .

A new monthly record for scooping culm from the Schuylkill river was set during April. . . . The Schuylkill river project engineer's report showed 1,228,900 cubic yards of the inky black coal waste was sucked from the river bed by six dredges. . . . "To date, a total of 10,178,200 cubic yards of culm between Hamburg and Norristown have been removed," Forests and Waters Secretary M. F. Draemel reported. . . . During the last week in April, 308,500 cubic yards of culm were removed for a new week's record.

Low Prices

Some clothes makers are known for quality, others for style or low price. But nowhere, we believe, are quality, style and economy so well combined as in Richman Brothers Clothes.

The basic reason is that Richman Brothers make their clothes, in their own tailor shops, and sell them, direct to you, through their own stores. There is no one in-between to collect extra profit.

The result is finer quality, personal attention to style, and, of course, substantially lower prices—all coming from Richman's straight-line method of production and distribution.

Come in and see the new models. The selection is the largest and best in many years.

Program Is Announced For Defense Of Europe

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, I. N. S.
LONDON, May 19. — The 12 North Atlantic Defense Pact nations announced on Thursday an economic and military program for the defense of Europe and tied to United States and Canadian aid expected after the Marshall Plan ends in 1952.

Highlights of two separate communiqués issued after lengthy discussions among the Big Three and the entire twelve Atlantic pact nations follow:

1—The United States is studying at highest government level plans to continue military and economic aid indefinitely.

2—The Atlantic Pact council will name a committee of deputies, headed by a permanent chairman, to study means of integrating all defense plans with the organization for European economic cooperation.

(Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Marshall Plan Envoy W. Averell Harriman have been mentioned frequently as likely candidates for the chairmanship.)

3—A full-scale defense plan already has been drawn up and adopted and allocation of the various financial responsibilities of participating nations will be made.

4—The deputies will meet regularly, formulate decisive plans, make definite recommendations to their governments, and report periodically to the council on active measures planned.

5—"Tangible results" in the field of European defense are to be achieved before the next council meeting.

6—All economic aspects of defense will be under constant review and each signatory nation held responsible for national programs.

7—The Atlantic Pact nations realize fully the necessity for continuing and expanding economic ties as the defense program takes form.

Secretary of State Acheson announced that study of continued aid to Europe is under way.

Consider Plan For European Aid Extension

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(European General Manager, I. N. S.)

LONDON, May 19.—U. S. Secretary of State Acheson announced that highest government level study is under way on the problem of continuing military and economic aid to Europe after the Marshall plan ends in 1952.

His statement was made in conjunction with British Foreign Secretary Bevin and French Foreign Minister Schuman in a special communique that dealt in detail with the financing of European defenses.

It was issued prior to another declaration by the 12 North Atlantic defense pact powers outlining speedy, active measures decided upon during the past week in behalf of western European defense against possible Soviet aggression.

The communique, which stressed the intensiveness of American and Canadian study of European aid problems, revealed a decision to integrate defense plans with European economic cooperation to ensure their economic workability.

THE FAMILY SCRAPBOOK

By DR. ERNEST G. OSBORNE

More Ideas from 'Teen Agers'

Yesterday we let 'teen-agers' express in their own words some of the things they think about us parents. Let's listen further and then do a little sober thinking.

Love. "Home is where people love each other. We want to be sure our parents will love us no matter what happens. And it's so much better if Mother's there when we get home from school and if Dad gets home on time so we can all have dinner together, tell what we've been doing, and play and sing awhile afterwards."

Understanding. "We want parents we can take our troubles to and be sure they'll understand. Some parents won't listen or let their children explain. They should try to see things a little more from our point of view. The way the world is today is just as hard on us as it is on them."

Trust. "Our parents should trust us more than they often do. They should tell us what we need to know about dating without being old-fashioned. Then they should put us on our own and expect the best of us so we have something to live up to."

Low Ceiling On Underpass Proves Disaster Cause

MILLERSBURG, Pa., May 19.—(INS)—The low ceiling underpass at Millersburg got it again.

A 12-foot trailer, loaded with 40,000 pounds of potatoes, Wednesday night tried to slide under the 10.9 foot underpass. It didn't come out even.

State police arrested the driver, Harry Bacon, 27, of Savannah, Ga., and charged him with reckless driving.

Police said it would cost $5,000 to replace two steel beams ripped out by the truck.

Each rider in the Pony Express had to ride 75 to 100 miles a day.

CHURCH WEDDING AFTER CIVIL CEREMONY

"My daughter was married by the City Clerk. Now she wants a church wedding. Is it correct for her to wear a white ankle-length dress and a white veil-trimmed hat? May she hold flowers?"

Answer: Since this is not her first ceremony, she should not wear white which is reserved for maiden brides.

Have her wear a pastel, such as pale blue, dress and hat and wear a corsage instead of carrying flowers.

Question: I have a problem that I should like to have you answer personally: When a couple go to the movies, who should go down the aisle first to look for the seats—the girl or the boy?

Answer: The boy should go down first, unless an usher leads the way, in which event the girl should follow the usher and the boy should follow her.

Question: Will it be proper for the maid in a wedding party to wear white coats and dark trousers? The wedding will take place in the early summer and the bride will wear a white organdy ankle-length dress with a shoulder veil. She will have a maid-of-honor and two bridesmaids. (2) Should the groom's father wear the same as the father of the bride or just a business suit? The bride's father will give her away.

Answer: White coats and dark trousers will be quite proper. (2) The groom's father may also wear a white coat and dark trousers if he wishes to do so, but it will be entirely correct for him to wear a business suit if he prefers to do so.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly send personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, addressed envelopes.

Reports Democrat Paid Expenses Of President's Shadow

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(INS)—Sen. Brewster (R) Me., told the senate that "a very distinguished Democrat" paid the expenses of the Republican "shadow" who trailed President Truman on the recent cross-country tour.

He identified the "Democrat" as John W. Hanes of New York and North Carolina, who was under-secretary of the treasury for a time under President Roosevelt.

Brewster said that the senatorial campaign committee which he heads and which sent observer Vic Johnston on the trail of President Truman by plane, did not have to pay for the plane because Hanes "very generously offered to take care of the finances of the trip."

Labor Strike Situation Is Discussed By Babson

By ROGER W. BABSON
(Copyright—1950—Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

NEW YORK CITY, May 19.—There is no easy way of settling strikes. Strikes signify what workers want and how they hope to get it.

What Do Workers Really Want?
I am reminded of the old story about Samuel Gompers, one time head of the A. F. of L. Once when someone asked him what labor really wanted, he replied, "More."

The question is: More what? Many labor economists, as well as newspaper columnists and psychologists, seem to think most strikes are only for one reason: more pay and less work. As a matter of fact, the May 1948 issue of Monthly Labor Review reported that only 74 per cent of all our strikes involved the issue of higher wages and shorter working hours. It is a mistake to say that strikers want only more money.

Strikes have cost not only the employer but the employees huge sums. It will take years for many employees to make up the money they lost through strikes. If money were the sole underlying motive, why, then, do $10,000 per year workers, such as script writers, airplane pilots and locomotive engineers, strike? In many instances workers get angry because they are not receiving the "psychic" satisfactions necessary to wholesome manhood. They flare up, go on strike, then look around for something to demand. More wages and shorter working hours usually is a simple formula to demand. But, fundamentally, inadequate "psychic" compensation is the root of most of our industrial conflict.

Psychic Compensation
Psychic compensation is the inner satisfaction and feeling of well-being derived from individual recognition, praise for work well done, fair treatment, and a steady job. This soul-satisfying compensation does not, of course, supplant an adequate wage, but it is very important in keeping workers contented.

Interestingly enough, the business executive's inner wants closely parallel those of the worker. He wants power, independence of action, a free hand to carry out ideas, recognition by associates and community. Psychologists, economists and college professors have all been wrong with their notion that economic factors are the sole motivators of men. Except in economic depressions, neither labor nor management is motivated primarily by dollars and cents. Both groups want certain "psychic" satisfactions of recognition, respect for the individual, reasonable personal power and prestige. It is the inadequate satisfaction of these wants and needs that drives men into conflict.

Satisfying Psychic Needs
We live in a highly competitive society which stresses and rewards individual achievements, prestige and power. Executives and workers are all moulded from the same clay. They have attended the same schools. They have the same physical make up. There is no reason to believe that the economic and "psychic" motives of one group differ markedly from those of another. It would be pretty difficult for union leaders to develop strike activity if the workers' "psychic" wants, as well as economic, were satisfied.

The trouble is, most executives know so little about human relations that they don't know where to begin. If the average executive would sit down and analyze his own basic "psychic" job needs, recognize that his workers crave the same "psychic" satisfactions, and develop ways to share these satisfactions, I believe he would be on the road to resolving his industrial strife, provided labor leaders would fairly cooperate. We must jettison the "psychic salaries" of our workers.

What About Investors?
The unfortunate fact is that innocent investors are the real sufferers of this psychic conflict. I, therefore, am coming to the conclusion that they—from their independent position—must soon wake up and take an active hand in settling this problem.

IDENTIFY BODY
LEWISBURG, Pa., May 19.—(INS)—The body of a man found on an island in the Susquehanna river opposite Lewisburg has been identified as that of Delasson Poust, of Hughesville.

The elderly man disappeared from his daughter's Williamsport home March 27. The body was discovered last Tuesday. The daughter reported his disappearance to police but apparently was unconcerned because her father often had left to visit other relatives.

There will be no further investigation, Police said.

SCHOOL COMPULSORY
COPENHAGEN—(SF)—Education is compulsory in Greenland. There is one teacher for every 14 pupils.

More Arrests In Furniture Fraud Are Predicted

BOSTON, May 19.—(INS)—Authorities predicted more arrests in the FBI investigation of a $130,000 furniture fraud in which a Newton Corner dealer and two New York men have already been nabbed.

The Newton furniture dealer, George C. Eisen, 28, of Cambridge, was held in $10,000 bond by U. S. Commissioner Martin T. Hall, charged with transporting more than $5,000 in furniture that had been stolen, converted or taken by fraud.

Eisen allegedly had the furniture brought to Newton from New York. The FBI said the furniture, supposedly destroyed in a Brooklyn fire, actually was removed before the fire and turned up for sale at bargain prices here and elsewhere.

U. S. Atty. Thomas P. O'Connor told Commissioner Hall a fraud ring burned down the Brooklyn warehouse as part of a "vicious and large scale racket".

Juniata Plans For 75th Anniversary

HUNTINGDON, Pa., May 19.—(INS)—A 14-member committee has been appointed by Henry B. Gibbel, chairman of the board of trustees, to plan Juniata college's 75th anniversary celebration.

The first meeting of the group, which includes students, faculty, trustees, alumni and townspeople, will be held June 3. The observance will take place April 15-17, 1951.

Juniata celebrated the beginning of its 75th year on founders' day, April 17. Other special events are scheduled during the year.

Senators Rained Out, Meet Butler In Twin Bill Here Saturday

Winding Up Niagara Falls Series With Game Tonight

(Special To The News)
NIAGARA FALLS, May 19.—The scheduled game between New Castle and Niagara Falls was rained out last night after one scoreless inning of play. The Senators were batting in the top of the second when a heavy downpour halted proceedings at Hyde Park stadium.

The teams will play a single game tonight, and will arrange to play off the Thursday game the next time New Castle visits the "Honeymoon City."

Janacone vs. Promowicz
Both managers, Cronin and Ullis, were expected to come back with the same pitching assignments tonight, Dick Janacone for New Castle and Joe Promowicz for the Falls.

Promowicz, local mound star for The Citizens, seeking his third straight win last night retired Bilo and Mouton on infield outs before Dondero singled sharply to left-center. Dondero stole second, but Kiel ended the inning by fouling out to John Ludtka who made a good running catch.

Janacone, pitching for The Senators, walked leadoff man John Fedorko on four pitches, in the bottom of the first. Fedorko stole second, and Tommy Erwin lined out to left field for the first out. Aubrey McClelland filed in right field with Fedorko going to third after the catch, but Walt Chippelle grounded out, third to first to end the inning.

Famiglietti led off in the second by walking, but as Vizzini came to the plate, the umpires stopped the game. After a half hour wait, the game was officially called.

Refiners Creep Up
The rained out Senators found Oil City with an 8 to 3 win over Erie, creeping up to within a game and half of the league lead, while Butler, with a 18 to 6 trouncing of Vandergrift, picked up a half-game also, to within 2 games of the front-running Senators.

In other league action last night the Youngstown Athletics still smarting under the three game series defeat by the Senators, turned on the Johnstown Johnnies in the second half of a double bill at Youngstown, to win 9 to 3, after losing the first game 3 to 1.

Butler Here Saturday
Following the game at the Falls tonight, the Senators will start the long 180-mile bus trip home, to meet the Butler Tigers in a twin-bill Saturday at Flaherty Memorial Field.

The first game tomorrow night will start at 7 o'clock, and will be a seven-inning affair, the second game is nine innings.

Manager Cronin will have Stan Zedalis (2-1) and Herb Churchill (2-0) ready for the Tigers Saturday. Churchill has not been on the hill since last Monday night. Zedalis pitched Tuesday against Youngstown winning 6 to 2, while Churchill was relieved after six innings, Schultz and Becka finished.

Titan Athletes Honored, Hear Pro Football Coach

A successful Westminister college athletic season was brought to a conclusion last night with a banquet on the campus to honor all who aided the inter-collegiate teams.

Weeb Ewbank, assistant coach of the Cleveland Browns professional football champions, was the main speaker.

More than 200 members of the school's athletic teams, the band cheerleaders, coaches and guests partook of large portions of delicious mealtime fare in Ferguson hall and enjoyed the program that followed.

Ross Ellis served as pinchhit toastmaster for Athletic Director Grover C. Washabaugh, who was absent because of a death in the family. Mr. Ellis reacted in the way that all baseball managers wish their pinchhitters would perform. Dr. John Orr asked the invocation.

Orr Speaks

President of the college, Dr. Will W. Orr, gave a short speech of welcome and offered a few comments on the athletic achievements of Titan teams during past season. He remarked that he had recently attended the NCAA meeting in New York and that Westminister was in full compliance with the "Sanity Code" of that governing body. He also recalled some highlights of the past season that will long be remembered by all followers of Westminister teams.

Coaches of the various sports were called on for brief remarks. These included Mel Hetzler, Charles "Burr" Ridd, John Forey, Harold Barry, and Ted Ossoff. Miss Shirley Morgan and Donald Cameron spoke for the two non-athletic organizations that are so essential for a successful athletic program, the cheerleaders and the band.

Veteran Coach

Coach Ewbank traced an outline of the necessities for success in athletics and in each case showed how these same requirements were essential in regular life. Ewbank, a veteran of more than 20 years in the coaching profession, related many of his experiences that illustrated a point in his talk. Of particular interest were his illustrations dealing with the Cleveland Browns and the coaching methods of head coach Paul Brown.

While speaking of the pending game between the champions of the AAC—the Browns—and the National pro league champions—the Philadelphia Eagles—Ewbank would make no prediction about the outcome. "However," he said "we'll be there and give a good account of ourselves." The game is slated for early September in Philadelphia.

Movies concerning the Cleveland Browns, their travels, and play were shown following Mr. Ewbank's talk.

Most of the Titan teams have already ended competition for the school year.

The golf team is participating in a Tri-state meet at Allegheny college today and the track team enters a tri-state meet at the same place tomorrow.

Sylvan Heights Race Tightens; Shamrocks Lead

Although the Shamrocks still continue to dominate the play in the Sylvan Heights Golf League race, as a result of their 7½-4½ victory over the strong United Engineering and Foundry team on Wednesday evening, the race was more or less tightened up with this week's matches.

Bob Webber sparked the field with a par round of 36, and scored and eagle two on the No. 7 dog-leg hole around the woods.

Fred Lombardo, Fred Palmer and Jimmy Gaiore were one over with 37's. Stan Bukowski had a 38, and Ezz Palmer and Whitey Gould had 39's.

Besides the Shamrock victory Johnson Bronze came back with a victory over Germani Jewelry, 6½-5½; the Eagles won from Morellas, 7-5; Shenango Pottery eked out a 6½-5½ victory over Castle club; and Lafret, who did not fare so well in their opener, won from Universal-Rundle, 10-2.
